

IIMSN Smart Grid Communications

The smart grid requires a communication system that ...

- handles measurement and management data to monitor the operation of the involved devices
- enables bi-directional (real time) communication to connect the decentralized elements
- is reliable for grid protection, automation and optimization
- provides seamless connectivity and management

